Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 24-49 and 61-73 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Each of the rejected claims contains limitations that the apparatus includes means for vibrating the carrier on which the protrusions are disposed. In each of the disclosed embodiments the carrier is not vibrated by any structure of the apparatus. The movement away from the face of the user is caused by the protrusions contacting the skin in every embodiment except for possibly fig. 7. However, in fig. 7 the movement along a cam track which causes the protrusion 16 to move outward is not really a vibration given to the carrier. Therefore, the above claims are lacking support in the original specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless—

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3761

Claims 50 and 51 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Garenfeld, et al.-0493 849 A1.

Garenfeld discloses a housing 1, a depilation member 8, a vibration member having protrusions (longitudinal sections between adjacent openings in plate 15), which protrude from the rest of the plate (carrier), which is vibrated by an eccentric coupling 19-24.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 54 and 60 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Garenfeld, et al.-'849.

Garenfeld discloses the invention as claimed with the exception of the material of the plate 15 being resilient plastic. To have manufacture the plate out of a resilient plastic would have been an obvious design choice as plastics were known to be readily available, generally lighter than metal and would not be subject to rust or oxidation with repetitive use.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 52,53 and 55-59 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 05-20-03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

As explained above the present application does not have any means for vibrating a component (carrier), which has protrusions thereon. The determination as to whether or how the claimed subject matter is disclosed in the Caric reference is not germane to the question of whether the present application discloses the claimed matter. However, clearly the Caric device has a means for advancing and retracting the carriers disclosed therein. With regards to the interference, even if the present application were determined to have some embodiment which did support the claimed subject matter, the examiner is unable to see how any of the disclosed embodiments would be equivalent to Caric's in the 112 6th realm.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
